Second Navy Jet Downed by Laotian Reds

Pilot Is Lifted
Safely Out of Asian Jungle

VIENTIANE, Laos, (AP) — Communist groundfire knocked down the second U.S. Navy jet in two days over Laos Sunday, but the pilot was safely lifted out of the red-held jungle.

U.S. officials hoped to continue an air search today for the pilot of the first plane, but a heavy cloud cover hung over Vientiane. The monsoon season has set in.

Both planes were shot down east of the Plaine des Jarres area, recently overrun by the Pathet Lao. Both were Crusader jets capable of 1,000 miles an hour. They were operating from the carrier Kitty Hawk in the South China Sea.

The second jet was armed and accompanying an unarmed reconnaissance plane over central Laos. The United States has been conducting photographic flights over Communist positions since May 17 at the request of the neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma.

The pilot, Cmdr. Doyle W. Lynn of La Mesa, Calif., was rescued by a U.S. helicopter and flown back to the Kitty Hawk, an embassy spokesman said.

U.S. officials gave no details of the jungle rescue, but it was unofficially reported that several helicopters had been badly shot up in an attempt to find the other pilot, Lt. Charles F. Klusmann, 30, of San Diego, Calif.

Klusmann was on a reconnaissance flight when his plane was hit. He was reported to have parachuted safely, but his exact landing spot in the rugged, isolated terrain apparently was not known.

Red China charged that U.S. jet fighters fired two rockets at Khang Khay, Pathet Lao headquarters on the Plaine des Jarres. There was no mention of damage or casualties.

Reliable sources in Vientiane said Laotian air force T8 fighter-bombers armed with machine guns are providing cover for the U.S. reconnaissance planes.

Premier Souvanna Phouma's neutralist government ordered the protection after consultations with U.S. Embassy officials in the wake of the loss of the two American planes.

In Washington, the State Department said the reconnaissance flights would be continued with U.S. fighter escorts. The armed escorts were ordered Saturday after the loss of Lynn's plane near Ban Ban, 5 miles northeast of the Plaine des Jarres.

The downing of the two planes created a new sense of urgency among U.S. officials in Washington. President Johnson met at the White House with his top advisers Sunday. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara abruptly cancelled an appearance at Ohio University's commencement exercises.

The Pathet Lao already holds one U.S. pilot, a civilian, Eugene Debruin of Kaukauna, Wis., was captured last September when his Air America cargo plane was shot down. Air America is a private line under government charter.

Injuries Fatal To Youngster in Car-Bike Crash

John Ellis Hamrick, 12, son of Pickaway County Extension Agent and Mrs. George Hamrick, died 2:45 p. m. yesterday from injuries suffered when his bicycle collided with a car at Pickaway St. and Northridge Road.

Young Hamrick, on his way to the swimming pool at Ted Lewis Park, was struck at 12:25 p. m. He was rushed to Berger Hospital, then transferred to Children's Hospital, Columbus. He died of massive head injuries.

The auto was driven by Jack C. Moats, 17, of 423 Northridge Road. The Hamricks live not too far away at 630 Garden Parkway.

The youngster was accompanied by his younger brother, Mike, also on a bicycle, and a sister, Betsy, who was walking. The brother and sister were not involved in the crash.

BOTH vehicles were headed west on Northridge Road. Patrolman William Brungs said young Hamrick apparently attempted to make a left turn onto Pickaway St.

Nehru Rites At Holy River Brings Frenzy

ALLAHABAD, India (AP) — Thousands of grieving Indians plunged into the Ganges River in a frenzied stampede today as the ashes of the late Prime Minister Nehru were strewn on India's holy rivers.

At least one woman drowned before police, wielding clubs from boats, forced swimmers and waders to the shore. Four persons were killed in a stampede Sunday as Nehru's ashes were brought from New Delhi.

The mourning thousands, dressed in the white homespun cotton of India's poor, mobbed a floating platform and it sank under their weight. Scores tried to climb in boats filled with newsmen and government officials, but police beat them back.

About half a million persons crowded to the river banks or waded in. The temperature hit 107 degrees and scores collapsed. Others were injured by police clubs.

Nehru's family wilted by the heat and almost deafened by the uproar, went out into the river in an amphibious army vehicle to strew the ashes.

"Babuji (father) is gone," sobbed Nehru's daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, as she boarded the vehicle.

Her sons, Rajiv and Sanjay, emptied the urn of Nehru's ashes at a point where the Ganges and the Jumna rivers meet.

bicycle turned left just as the car was passing the traffic light at the intersection. The driver said he made an unsuccessful attempt to swerve away from the bike.

No traffic violations were indicated. Police said the crash is still under investigation.

A Youth Memorial Fund has been established in young Hamrick's name.

The fund was organized today by several local citizens and friends. It has the Hamrick family's blessing.

Funds realized will be used for promotion and development of youth activities in Pickaway County. Contributions may be sent to these persons, in care of PO Box 359, Circleville.

Paul Schein, Pickaway County 4-H Advisory Council president; Dwight Radcliff, Boy Scout commissioner; Donald Archer, 4-H Club adviser; Robert W. Wood, Little League Baseball treasurer; Loring Leist, longtime 4-H adviser; Russell Palm, longtime youth activities supporter; and Robert Wavering, St. Joseph's School activities.

The impact hurled the bike rider about 25 feet, according to police. Active in the local Youth Baseball Program here and a delivery boy for The Herald, the youngster had just completed his sixth grade studies at St. Joseph's School.

Patrolman Brungs said the bike was struck by the right front fender of the 1963 model compact car. The rear of the bicycle apparently received the jolt of the impact.

The youngster was born Nov. 8, 1951, in Columbus. In addition to the parents, he is survived by two sisters, Betsy and Molly Jo, and brother Michael; and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, 125 Wilson Ave. The paternal grandparents, Ellis R. and Georgianna Ambler Hamrick, are deceased.

Services will be 9:30 a. m. Wednesday in St. Joseph Church, with Msgr. George O. Mason officiating. Children of St. Joseph School will assist at Mass.

Recitation of the Rosary will be 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Deffenbaugh Funeral Home. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p. m. today.

Youth Baseball Suspended Wednesday

William Thomas, president of the Circleville Youth Baseball Program, Inc., announced today that all action in the program will be suspended Wednesday in honor of John Hamrick, who was killed yesterday.

John was a member of the American Legion team in the major division of the Little League. Thomas noted that games will be played today and tomorrow as scheduled.

Court Shuns Red Review

No Registration
To Be Required

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to review a decision overturning conviction of the Communist party of the United States for failure to register under the Internal Security Act.

The refusal leaves the lower court decision standing.

The Supreme Court's action was announced in a brief order that gave no reason.

Justice Byron R. White, formerly deputy attorney general, took no part in consideration of the case.

The lower court's decision was by a three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals here. The Justice Department had asked the Supreme Court to hear argument in the case and reverse the lower court.

The appeals court held that the government had failed to prove anyone was available to the party who could sign the registration statement without incriminating himself.

Urging reversal of the decision, the government appeal questioned whether party officers may refuse to register for the party "when they cannot possibly incriminate themselves because the statute prohibits any information obtained by registration from being introduced in evidence in a judicial proceeding."

Anyway, the appeal said, "no new leads to other information can result (from registration) since party officials have publicly stated their positions." Further, the appeal stated "there is not the slightest reason to reject in this case the ordinary rule that an organization can find attorneys or other agents to act for it."

The party had been fined $120,000 for failing to list with the Justice Department the names of its officers and members, the amount and sources of its income, the amount and purposes of its expenditures, and the location of its printing presses. The fine was set aside by the court of appeals decision.

The listing was required when an order by the Subversive Activities Control Board against the party became final in 1961. The order was upheld by the Supreme Court when it upheld constitutionality of the Registration Act. The high court did not rule, however, on what the consequences would be if the party failed to register.

Panel Okays Project at Deercreek

Congressman William Harsha, Ohio 6th District, today reported that the Subcommittee on Public Works has approved his request for $500,000 to begin construction on the long proposed Deercreek reservoir project that encompasses part of Pickaway County.

Harsha said the Full Committee on Appropriations will meet Thursday to approve action of the Subcommittee.

The Ohio solon said he anticipates no problem in connection with the Full Committee's approval of his request.

Luci Wows Illinois

HARVARD, Ill. (AP) — McHenry County may have gone Republican in every presidential election this century, but it has given at least one Democrat its overwhelming approval.

The youngest of the LBJ's, blue-eyed Luci Baines Johnson, charmed record crowds of 200,000 Saturday, and upstaged 15 mayors and a would-be governor on hand for the 3rd annual Harvard Milk Day.

In Harvard, "milk capital of the world" a cheering crowd estimated at 100,000 lined the sidewalks to watch 16-year-old Luci lead a parade down the city's white-painted main street.

Charles Percy, Republican candidate for governor of Illinois, and 15 Illinois and Wisconsin mayors on hand for a milk contest were no match for the Texas warmth of the enthusiastic teen-ager.

GOP Chiefs' Views At Odds with Barry

Barry Doubts Ike, Dick Can Stop Him Now

Upset of His Bandwagon Could
Ruin GOP, Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater figures that it would take the solid and open opposition of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton to derail his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

The Arizona senator indicates he sees no chance of that.

"If they did that, I'd probably step out anyway," Goldwater told newsmen Sunday night as he flew back from Chester, Pa. "A thing like that would tear the party apart."

Goldwater said earlier that all three men have disavowed any part of an effort to stop his candidacy to head the ticket.

He said if he wins the nomination he will "allow my party full swing" in choosing a vice presidential candidate. Goldwater said he thinks party leaders would want to balance the ticket by choosing an Easterner of moderate Republican views to share the ticket.

Goldwater added if he were Scranton he would be thinking about a bid for the vice presidency.

He said if Scranton had second place on a Republican ticket.

He Sends 7 To College, Then He Goes

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Sun Pei Lee, a native of China who put seven children through college, finally got his own degree—at age 68.

It took him so long, Lee said in an interview, because "we had to make a living." In gratitude for paying their way through college, his children financed his five and a half years at the University of Delaware.

He received a bachelor of science degree in agriculture Sunday becoming the oldest student ever to graduate from the University of Delaware.

"I will look for a job," said Lee. "I want to do what I have learned."

Only his wife and his youngest daughter, Stella, saw him receive his degree.

Lee was a pioneer of the textile industry in China. In 1956, under the Refugee Act, he and his wife followed their children to the United States. He became an American citizen in 1963. His wife hopes to become naturalized in August.

Lee hopes to work for an international or foreign agency which seeks to improve agriculture production and distribution. Lee estimates he has trained more than 3,000 technologists and engineers for the textile industry. His first school was begun in Nantung in 1927. When he left Nantung in 1938, he started another school in Shanghai.

Columbus Paper Is Shut by Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Union printers and mailers struck against The Columbus Dispatch Printing Co. today, preventing publication of the afternoon Dispatch.

Federal mediator George Bell said "an entire economic package, including the pension plan" is involved where the printers are concerned, and that the mailers' situation includes number of men assigned to various jobs.

Management had no immediate comment on the strike. It continues, it will affect the morning Citizen-Journal, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, all of whose mechanical functions are performed by The Dispatch Printing Co.

IKE SUMMONS SCRANTON — In an apparent effort to keep the Republican National Convention open, Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower summoned Gov. William Scranton to his Gettysburg farm to discuss Scranton's chances of getting the Republican Presidential nomination. After the meeting in an answer to a question whether he would join any movement to "stop Goldwater, Scranton said "he would not be part or parcel of any movement against anyone for the Presidency and would support whoever is the nominee."

Barry's Delegate Total Near 600

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's drive for Republican presidential nomination delegates is expected to near the 600 mark this week as 146 delegates are chosen in 10 states.

With the GOP convention opening five weeks from today, the Arizona senator has 535 first ballot votes according to an Associated Press survey of delegates already chosen. He needs just 120 more—655—for a first ballot victory.

Indications are that Goldwater will pick up enough votes this week to boost his front running total near the 600 mark and set the stage for the last two state conventions next week in Montana and Texas.

Goldwater will be favored to win most of those delegates, apparently giving him enough to win the nomination.

But Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., said Sunday he thought Goldwater would be from 80 to 100 votes short of a first ballot nomination, and he envisioned "quite a contest."

While attention is on the GOP presidential nomination race, candidates for two governorships, three Senate seats and 10 House seats will be decided by voters or party conventions in five states.

Goldwater's post-California primary drive got under way over the weekend at State conventions in Colorado, Alabama, Washington and Hawaii and at a pair of district conventions in Virginia. Combined with some minor vote shifts in Iowa and the District of Columbia, he netted 65 votes, according to the AP survey based on primary commitments, pledges, instructions or stated preference.

The field shaped this way: Goldwater 535, Nelson A. Rockefeller 128, William W. Scranton 85, Henry Cabot Lodge 45, Richard M. Nixon 15, Margaret Chase Smith 15, Favorite sons 93, Uncommitted 209.

Indiana Republicans meet today and Tuesday to elect 32 GOP delegates, but their votes have already been credited to Goldwater, under state law, because of their preference.

Anderson in his chairman's address prepared for delivery after a morning welcoming speeches told a general session of the governors:

"We are all aware that the problems of government covered generally by the 'civil rights' as serious in each of our states. They will not solve themselves; they will not go away."

"During each of the three prior meetings of this conference I have attended, we devoted much time and discussion, little time in reaching conclusions."

Anderson, a Republican, said the executive committee felt "it would be well for the conference to devote adequate time to open consideration of the varied facets of the problems" this year. He announced three concurrent workshops—on education, employment and public accommodations—for tomorrow morning, followed by a plenary session where chairmen would report results.

Warren and other members of the Warren Commission toured the Texas School Book Depository Building, from where the assassin is alleged to have fired rifle bullets at Kennedy, as well as Oswald's rooming house and Ruby's apartment.

Warren said Chief Justice Earl Warren told him he had no connection with Lee Harvey Oswald, whom he shot two days after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

This was reported by a reliable source after Warren spent more than three hours with Ruby in the Dallas County jail.

Governors Eye '64 Platform

Stop-Goldwater
Move Loses Steam

CLEVELAND Ohio (AP) — Republican governors sought agreement today on a statement of principles to be presented to the GOP convention platform committee that ran contrary to some views of Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, who is to be the keynote speaker at the Republican presidential convention in San Francisco, said in an interview that he and colleagues attending the 56th annual Governors' Conference hope to reach agreement on the document.

As tentatively drafted, the statement would call for a strong declaration on civil rights, would advocate compulsory Social Security and would urge that the United States retain its membership in the United Nations.

Goldwater, scheduled to visit the conference to hear former President Dwight D. Eisenhower speak tonight, has aired some different views on these issues in the campaign that has carried him to the threshold of the Republican presidential nomination.

He has opposed some provisions of the civil rights bill pending in the Senate. He has proposed that Social Security be put on a voluntary basis and has said the United States ought to get out of the United Nations if it admits Red China.

Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and George Romney of Michigan indicated in news conferences Sunday they believe Goldwater will have difficulty in carrying their states unless he changes his views.

The governors were centering their emphasis on trying to get the Arizona senator to change his stance after a brief effort to produce a stop-Goldwater movement collapsed.

Scranton, who announced he was available for the nomination after a conference with Eisenhower in Gettysburg, Pa., said on a television program that he couldn't see himself as the party nominee. He said he might have decided to campaign for the nomination if Eisenhower specifically had urged him to do so, but the general didn't.

It became known that an hour before Scranton appeared on a television program Sunday Eisenhower phoned the governor and told him that he, Eisenhower, didn't want to participate in any cabal to stop any candidate for the nomination. The former president reportedly suggested that Scranton avoid joining any such movement.

Arriving by train in Akron on his way to the conference, Eisenhower told reporters he is not joining any stop-Goldwater effort. He conceded he will talk some politics in private meetings during his stay at the conference.

Whether Goldwater would meet with Eisenhower, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, also a conference guest, and the Republican governors to discuss his position remained uncertain.

Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, who will be his host here, declined to elaborate on Cardinal Bea's visit.

Tourist Unearths Gem Worth $4325

FRANKLIN, N.C. (AP) — A ruby estimated to be worth $4,325 was found by a Georgia housewife on a weekend gem hunt at the Old Shuler mine near here.

Mrs. David Stock, 30, of Dawson, Ga., bought six buckets of dirt for $1 at the mine and found a ruby weighing 86.50 carats. Mrs. Stock, wife of a ladies ready-to-wear dealer, called it "a gift of God."

The mine charges a set fee for tourists to try their luck. Jim Brinkman, who runs a gem shop in this area, estimated the value of Mrs. Stock's ruby at $50 a carat.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional.

Texas Gulf fell 3/8 to 47 on a delayed opening block of 24,000 shares, trimming its loss only slightly in a rash of subsequent trades.

The company is being sued by two Canadian mining companies which claim they own the Ontario land on which Texas Gulf announced a big mineral discovery which has boomed the price of the stock.

Filibuster End Being Sought

Petition Asks Senate Closure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty-eight senators filed a petition today to close off the Senate's record filibuster against the House-passed civil rights bill.

The petition to invoke the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule was sent to the desk by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and will automatically come to a vote one hour after the Senate meets on Wednesday.

In hopes of winning the two-thirds majority necessary to put the rule into effect, leaders yielded to the demands of a group of Republicans to permit the Senate to vote first on some key amendments to the House-passed bill.

Under an agreement nailed down Saturday, debate on these amendments will be limited to four hours each. The votes on them will be taken Tuesday.

All this suggests a possibly decisive turning point in the long legislative battle, now in its 73rd day and 14th week.

With the Senate moving toward a showdown on civil rights, the House will take up Tuesday a $3.5-billion foreign aid authorization bill. This is the full amount asked by President Johnson in what he termed a "barebones request."

On tap for House action later in the week is a measure to extend for another year beyond June 30 a variety of federal excise taxes imposed during the Korean war. Involved is an estimated $1.9 billion in federal revenues.

FB Directors Okay System On Records

The Pickaway County Farm Bureau Board of Directors signed an agreement at its regular June session here Saturday night to sponsor the electronic farm record keeping service known as Buckeye Farm Records. The operation is a division of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

Sam Cashman, Ohio Farm Bureau, was present to explain and answer questions regarding the new service. He summed up his remarks by stating that Buckeye Farm Records is an electronic, confidential recording keeping service for farmers only sponsored by the County Farm Bureau and the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. He said it verifies all statements, codes the data and produces the financial report in a form that farmers can use in managing their operation. The new record keeping service is available to any farmer in Pickaway County.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Ed Johnson, Tri County Organization Director.

Other items discussed at the meeting included the proposals of the Scioto Conservancy District and the Corps of Army Engineers regarding flood control projects for the Scioto Conservancy Area. Also on the agenda were county planning, the one week Youth School and the fall Annual Meeting.

The board will not meet in July due to the wheat harvest.

3 Youths Injured In Blazing Wreck

AUTO DESTROYED — Three youths were injured 12:34 a. m. Sunday when the car in which they were passengers wrecked and burned on a portion of Interstate 71 still under construction. (Sheriff's Photo)

Three youths were hospitalized early Sunday morning for treatment of injuries sustained in an auto accident on a portion of Interstate 71 under construction in northwest Pickaway County.

Listed in "serious" condition by Mt. Carmel Hospital authorities were Mike Davis, 17, son of Mrs. Jane Shaw of Harrisburg, David Barnes, 17, of Harrisburg, was in "fair" condition.

John David Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rogers, the driver of the auto, was scheduled to be released from the hospital today it was reported.

The injuries to Davis included a skull fracture, fractured hip and lacerations of the face. Barnes had a broken right leg and internal injuries, according to the report of Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Gene Kerns. The accident occurred where

Pet Baboon Nips Thumb, Aid Required

Howard Hamilton, 26, of 441 E. Watt St., received emergency aid in Berger Hospital during the weekend after he was bitten on the thumb by a pet baboon at a local garage. A total of 10 persons received treatment and were released.

Lori Ann Metzger, 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Metzger, Williamsport, fell at home and cut her forehead.

Dale Cunningham, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cunningham, suffered burns to his right hand and shoulder during a family reunion when he threw a can of gasoline on a bonfire.

Rance Wolfe, 32, of 346 Logan St., cut his scalp on the hood of a car at his home.

Steven Mogan, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mogan, 440 Sunnyside Drive, lacerated his scalp at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

Sherry Jo Knox, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Knox, Route 1, Williamsport, fell on a step and suffered a cut above her left eye.

Bonnie Jester, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Jester, Route 1, New Holland, lacerated her left foot while wading in a creek.

Barry Doubts

Goldwater told a news conference at Chester that he, Scranton and Nixon "are all very close together on Republican principles." He said they disagree only on minor points.

He made it clear that he sees Nixon as the man to whom his foes could rally in the battle for the nomination.

But as things stand now, Goldwater said, he expects to capture the nomination at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco next month.

"We're running out of actors" in the stop-Goldwater drive, the front-running senator said.

Nixon said again Sunday night that he intends to have no part in any stop-Goldwater movement. But he told a group of Michigan Republicans in Detroit that he would willingly accept any assignment the Republicans gave him "and if the party should decide on me as its candidate, Mr. Johnson would know he'd been in a fight."

Telling a group of Michigan Republicans he does not believe Goldwater is as yet assured of the nomination, Nixon cast himself as a potential last-choice candidate "if the party cannot settle on another man."

But at the same time, he said he is not—and will not become—a party to any "so-called 'stop Goldwater' movement."

"I will not endorse Goldwater or any other candidate before the Republican convention and I will not take part in anything the purpose of which is to gang up on Goldwater," he said.

Nixon, in Michigan for a speech to the Economic Club of Detroit and a $100-a-plate GOP fund raising dinner in Muskegon, said statements by former President Eisenhower and others had the effect of a "stop Goldwater" effort.

Eisenhower's urging of Scranton to seek the nomination and subsequent statements by Scranton and Michigan Gov. George W. Romney appear to have slowed down a Goldwater bandwagon, Nixon said.

"Whether it has stopped remains to be seen," he said.

Officer Handed Suspension Here

Circleville Patrolman Larry Pontious has been handed a 10-day suspension on an accusation of sleeping on duty.

The suspension was ordered Saturday by Safety Director Miller Fissell. Pontious had been placed on indefinite suspension earlier in the week by Police Chief Robert Temple.

It was learned at Saturday's hearing that mitigating circumstances were involved, Chief Temple said today. The patrolman said he has been taking medicine for some time due to a nervous condition. He said this made it difficult for him to get normal sleep.

The officer is scheduled to report back to duty 11 p. m. June 11.

Mental Patient Picked Up Here

A woman identified by officers as a mental patient was picked up here yesterday by city police after she was discovered running around near Court and Main Sts. in pajamas.

Officers said she was identified as Mrs. Elsie May Bacon, 46, Dayton. They said she had driven here and registered at the American Hotel.

She apparently slipped out of the hotel yesterday afternoon. Passersby noticed her and called police.

The woman's husband drove here from Dayton later in the day to pick her up. Officers said she has a past history of mental illness and alcoholism.

OU Prexy Pinchhits For Defense Secretary

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) —Dr. Vernon R. Alden, president of Ohio University, had to fill in Sunday for U. S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara as commencement speaker at the school's graduation exercises.

McNamara had planned to address the 1,132 graduates, but he was forced to cancel his appearance after an American aircraft was shot down over Laos late Saturday. The university conferred in absentia an honorary doctor of humane letters degree on McNamara.

Business Upturn Still Strong

NEW YORK (AP)—The business upturn entered its 40th month during the week with no signs of weakening.

Automobile sales and production were at record levels.

Steel output was holding up well.

Corporations reported high profits and paid good dividends.

President Johnson took note of the economy's recording expansion in his news conference and said he found it showing new vitality that could keep it rolling through 1964 and well into 1965.

He said that while it was too early to assess the full effect of the tax cut enacted in February, economic indicators to date imply "the fresh confidence, the expanded purchasing power and the new incentives created by the Revenue Act of 1964."

The President said that despite the strong advance of the economy there is no inflation in sight.

"Wholesale prices are lower today than in January, lower than three years ago, lower than six years ago," Johnson said.

He indicated he was particularly encouraged by new figures on unemployment, reporting that the number of idle was down from 5.7 per cent in April 1963 to 5.4 per cent last April.

And, he added, there was a gain of more than one million new farm jobs from December to April.

Later, the Labor Department reported that unemployment fell in May to 5.1 per cent of the labor force, the lowest jobless rate in more than four years.

Total civilian employment rose to an all-time high of 71.1 million.

From a production and sales standpoint, the automobile industry continued to zoom.

Automakers during the week assembled an estimated 175,100 passenger cars. This was up 9 per cent from the holiday-shortened previous week's total of 161,360 and 4 per cent ahead of the 169,096 a year ago.

General Motors scheduled overtime work at three of its 23 plants and Ford at five of its 16.

In May, the automakers set a production record for the month, turning out 725,313 cars, up one per cent from 715,063 a year earlier and just ahead of the previous record of 724,480 in May 1955.

The May sales record was equally impressive with dealers delivering 740,000 cars, exceeding the 715,295 cars sold in May

Pike Countain Held In Fatal Shooting

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff's deputies said charges were expected to be filed today against Noel Dalton, 41, of Morgantown in the fatal shooting of a neighbor, Ernie Howland, 54. Deputies said Saturday night's shooting occurred as Dalton tried to frighten Howland, who was chasing his six children with an ax, away from Dalton's home.

1963, the previous high for the month.

With the summer slack season coming on, steel production during the week eased only 2 per cent from the previous week. Output totaled 2,462,000 tons of ingots, a drop of 49,000 tons.

All for the Menfolk

Any debate on the question: "Resolved, that it is better for a woman to be dead than out of style," always leaves the decision in favor of the affirmative. The word "dead" is used, of course, in a social rather than a physical sense.

When fashion changes are decreed, which is every few months, women rush to the nearest shop to array themselves in the manner of their sisters. Fashion calls, and must be answered.

The male of the species, in the fullness of his conceit — a conceit born from the presumption that he is a superior animal — thinks he has a license to belittle the fads and foibles of women's fashions. He writes jokes about their hats, and in other ways pokes fun at what he claims is their slavery to custom. Yet the poor brute doesn't realize women dress, not for themselves, but for their menfolk, and what they wear is for his benefit and not their own.

Women long ago discovered — perhaps knew it always — that any man worthy of their attention wants his womenfolk to look as well as all others of the sex. By following the fashions they insure themselves against the competition of other women.

Let man continue to presume he is superior, if he finds comfort in such presumption. It is a concession on the part of women, who have his number, and manage him accordingly.

GOP Still Alive

The Goldwater victory in California means that the Republican Party is still breathing. But it is still a long way from being in robust health.

If the battle had gone the other way, the party would, in the estimation of this columnist, be dead insofar as 1964 is concerned. My reason for thinking this derives from many conversations with people who have been working their hearts out in the Goldwater grassroots movement for well over a year. These people are not now, and never have been, in the mood to take a liberal Republican candidate in 1964. Intensity in politics does not, of course, register at the polls with any more numerical effectiveness than a casual or half-hearted pull at the lever.

But the grassroots Goldwaterites, despite their chief's plea for Republican regularity no matter whom the candidate might be, would certainly stay home rather than vote for a liberal. Some of them, indeed, would vote for Lyndon Johnson purely out of spite, or out of a wish to give Republicans a lesson.

Psychologically, many of the grassroots Goldwaterites reacted to the post-Oregon news of a Rockefeller upsurge with a bitter rehearsal of the "plot" theory of Republican "Establishment" domination. The mails were flooded with their forebodings. Robert A. Taft was quoted as saying, of his defeat of the 1952 convention: "First, it was the power of the New York financial interest and a large number of businessmen subject to New York influence. Second, four-fifths of the influential newspapers in the country were opposed to me continuously and vociferously and many turned themselves into propaganda sheets for my opponent. . . . The 'plot' theory went on to say, in a typical mimeographed letter sent out by an outraged Goldwaterite: 'In 1940 Wendell Willkie had moved to the Springfield of New York and received 105 votes on the first ballot in the Republican convention. Propelled by the Establishment, Republican delegates began climbing the Willkie bandwagon like monkeys on a string.'"

The California result this year proves, of course, that Pacific Coast Republicanism is not dominated by New York bankers and newspaper proprietors. But if the vote had gone the other way for whatever reason, no fervent Goldwaterite would ever have believed that the result was natural.

In the New York State primaries, held simultaneously with the California show, the Goldwaterites elected one delegate in Erie County and came within 38 votes of putting over a second delegate. Elsewhere, in Nassau, Staten Island and Queens, they came close enough to throw a distinct scare into the dominant organization bosses. Moreover, conservative Republicans such as U. S. Congressmen Becker and Derouin, as delegates from Long Island districts, will hardly lend themselves to any Stop Goldwater movement on the second or third ballot at San Francisco.

If the Republican Party has been saved by the Goldwater victory from a ponderable secession of middle class suburbanites from its ranks, this does not necessarily mean that the Party can win in November under conservative leadership. The liberals have their menacing swing vote, too. And the great number of liberal publicists who want a choice between two major party liberals will, in the very likely event that Goldwater gets his necessary 655 convention votes in San Francisco, line up practically en masse behind Lyndon Johnson. Maybe they were destined to turn up there anyway.

If Goldwater carries the day at San Francisco, he will be in a good position to make peace with the party regulars among the liberals. He refrained from saying nasty things about liberals all through the last hectic days in California. And he has set a record around the country for helping regular Republicans of all shades of opinion to extinguish past debts and raise new campaign money.

However, to counter the liberal defections from a Goldwater slate, the most intense sort of campaign against Lyndon Johnson must be waged. A polite, good-natured Goldwater will not be able to do it. Whether Barry can take the gloves off has yet to be proved. He will never be a mean man, but he must become an angry man to win.

Britain this summer will attempt to revive the ancient sport of jousting. This was the game — if you recall your King Arthur — in which the players had to be, like the uniforms they wore, strictly men of iron.

The idea of jousting is to try to knock your opponent off his horse with your lance. At best, a pretty sticky business.

And you can bet that when those old-time knights had at it with their king-size toothpicks they weren't just poking fun at each other!

The first of the revived jousting tournaments is scheduled for June 27 with a field of seven armor-wearing huskies competing. The seven victors, contestants! — have already been picked.

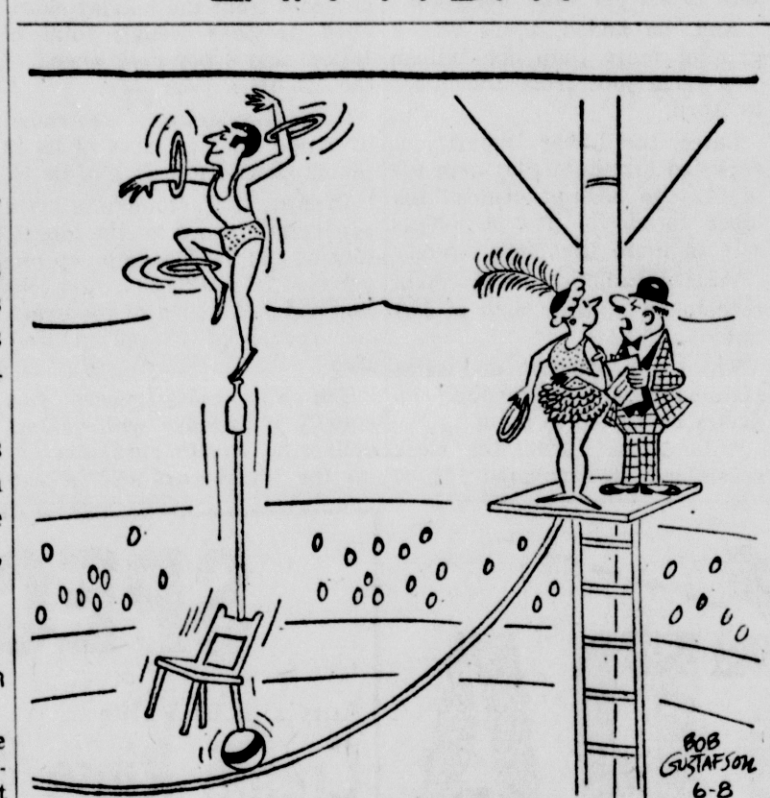

Since all the competitors will be iron clad from top to toe we predict the show will go over with a big bang.

The committee arranging the June 27 joust assures that a first aid team will stand by. A last aid station may not be such a bad idea, either.

Come to think of it, even the winner or winners of the upcoming medieval donnybrook may do a bit of suffering, too. A tin can toga is not exactly our idea of light, comfortable summer clothing.

The game of softball, according to a sports writer, was originated by a Chicago boat club in 1887. Is he sure it wasn't water polo?

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

A new drug has been used successfully to reduce the cholesterol level in the blood.

This announcement, made by Dr. Michael Oliver of the Royal Infirmary in Edinburgh, Scotland, was enthusiastically received. It was further noted that no toxic or side effects occurred in 103 patients on whom the new drug was used. Eighty per cent of the patients showed a marked reduction in the cholesterol content of the blood.

Why is this report of particular importance to your own family doctor?

It is accepted by most physicians that long-standing high cholesterol levels in the blood produce unwanted harmful narrowing of the blood vessels (arteriosclerosis).

The tiny arteries that bring blood directly to the heart muscles (the coronary arteries) are narrowed by deposits of calcium along their inner linings, when the blood contains excessive amounts of cholesterol and other fats.

The new drug, a complex of "isobutyric esters," offers great promise for preventing heart attacks from arteriosclerosis.

The liver seems to get most attention when it is sick or diseased. However, the liver should be recognized as the truly wonderful organ of the body that it is under healthy conditions, too.

The functions of the liver are so numerous and complex that so far it has been impossible to make a true estimate of its infinite contributions.

The liver, a massive organ, lies in the right side of the abdominal cavity, below the ribs and below the diaphragm. It is difficult to believe that the liver supplies the fuel and energy for the monumental exertions of the Olympic long distance runner. But it does—and it also stores the sugar fuel for all of the body requirements of energy expenditure.

The quick clotting of blood depends on some of the coagulating components manufactured in the liver.

Hepatitis (hepar means liver, its means infection) is only one of the diseases that affect the liver.

The vast recuperative powers of the liver make it one of the great contributors to the healthy functioning of the entire body.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Most Americans go right along making up their own minds. This makes it pretty tough sometimes for the experts.

The American voter doesn't always cast his ballot the way pollsters say he's going to.

The American consumer does not always spend his money, or save it, or go into debt the way either the politicians or the economists say he is sure to do.

The American businessman doesn't always spend for new plants on cue, or tailor his borrowing to fit the money managers' manipulating of interest rates, or build up his inventories when he hears a boom is in the offing.

The stock trader doesn't always buy because he's told the economic news is all good, or sell because he's warned it might change.

All this may be rough on some of the experts and pollsters. But consumer calm has some good points. Right now its pretty reassuring.

For instance, the federal income tax cut didn't spark the rush to spend which some politicians said would send the economy soaring. But neither did it trigger a boom that some experts warned would bring inflation.

Instead the consumers have gone on spending a little more as they have a little more to spend, saving a little more as their take home pay goes up a little, borrowing a little more as they figure they will be in a better position to meet the monthly payments.

Installment credit went up $412 million in April, but it had advanced even faster before the tax cut. Some savings institutions are reporting fewer deposits, but others are reporting gains.

Consumers paid off charge accounts and single-payment loans in March and then took on more of these items in April. Auto loans are increasing as sales mount, but other types of consumer debt aren't going up as fast as in January and February.

Free Enterprise Claimed Unused

NEW YORK (AP) — Norman Thomas, the old Socialist, says that the only people who practice free enterprise these days are "small boys playing marbles for keeps."

Thomas, 79, has seen government adopt many of the Socialist programs he fought for in six campaigns for the presidency. He says his chief regret is that he won't leave behind a Socialist party with real force in American politics.

Talking about his long career and his ideas for the future, Thomas says, "I've been lucky. No long jail terms, no long illnesses. I've been arrested several times, but I usually won."

"If I had it to do over, I wouldn't do many things differently. I'd do them better."

Thomas was interviewed in the small Manhattan office where he works five days a week. The sign on the door says "Post War World Council," one of dozens of councils, committees and leagues for which he works without pay.

In the lapel of his brown suit was the Order of Solidarity, which the Italian government recently awarded him for his opposition to Mussolini after World War I.

Although slowed down a bit by arthritis and other infirmities of age, Thomas writes two columns a week for the Denver (Colo.) Post, and lectures frequently throughout the country.

He's working on a new book to add to the 19 on his office shelves.

He says he could live on his lecture fees, but money left by his wife, who died in 1947, makes things easier for him. "I personally owe something to a system I don't like," he said.

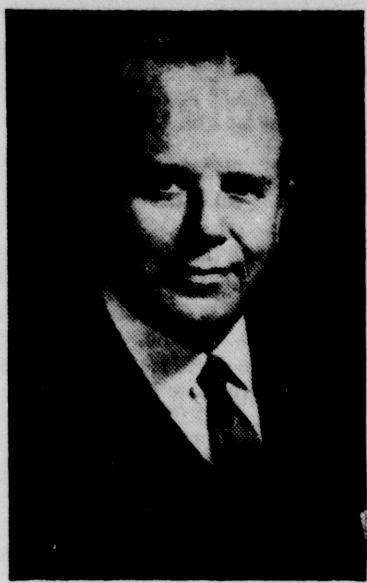

Thomas lives in a hotel room with a kitchenette near his office, and visits a daughter's family on Long Island as often as he can on weekends. He has five children, 15 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Thomas said he was "happily surprised" with President Johnson's performance. Commenting on the President's "war on poverty," he said, "abundance, not poverty, is the big problem. Automation, he believes, will produce plenty without everybody working—a problem neither Karl Marx nor Adam Smith thought of."

"We'll come to a time when you get a grant for being born an American," he predicted. "We'll need re-education. Of course, if we get that society, the people who make and program the machines will be the elite."

Thomas has no plans for more world travel because "it's too much embarrassment to drop dead abroad."

"I keep hoping I'll drop dead though," he said. "Not immediately, you understand. I just don't want people saying, 'That poor old man.'"

NEW PRESIDENT — Edward Froderman was named president during today's Christian Science Annual Meeting in Boston. Several thousand members were present for the session, held in The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist. A former vice president of a Chicago bank, Froderman resigned this post 15 years ago to enter the public practice of Christian Science healing. He is currently a trustee of The Christian Science Publishing Society.

Stock Mart Gets 'Tired'

NEW YORK (AP)—A "tired" stock market slipped last week to its sharpest loss of 1964. Trading was dull.

Not a single day provided volume of five million shares, which has been about average this year.

Various analysts, noting the dribbling, irregular decline of the previous two weeks, described the list as apathetic, indifferent to good news, unimpressed by bad news and lacking incentive.

"A break-out, one way or the other, cannot be too long delayed," said one Wall Street commentator, the day before the market's worst decline.

That was on Thursday. On Wednesday, one advisory service (Indicator Digest) wired clients to be "alert for a downward break - through on Thursday."

That is exactly what happened. A sharp burst of sell in a on no particular news. Before the day ended, the Dow Industrials plunged 9.31 points to 802.48 in the steepest loss since Nov. 22 the day President Kennedy was assassinated. The average fell 21.26 that day. Friday, however, there was a fairly vigorous rebound which brought the Dow back to 806.03. The loss for the week was 14.53.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks last week declined 4.4 to 301.6 in the largest decline since the week ended Nov. 23 when it fell 9.8.

Volume for the week totaled 21,592,230 shares compared with 17,292,511 shares for the previous week, shortened by the Memorial Day holiday.

In the over the counter market the long-awaited public offering of 100 million shares of Communications Satellite Corp. was made at $20 a share. The stock rose to a premium of about $7 the first day. As the excitement dwindled during the balance of the week, the price settled to a bid price of 21 and 22% asked by Friday.

The most active issues on the New York Stock Exchange were: Texas Gulf Sulphur, off 4% at 50% on 1,052,900 shares; Chrysler, off 1 1/4 at 46; Xerox, off 5% at 109 1/4; Curtis Publishing, off 1 1/4 at 11 1/4; and Radio Corp., off 1/2 at 30 1/2.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Sen. Barry Goldwater wins the Republican presidential nomination, to a large extent it's because he showed vitality. Almost without exception other Republican leaders sat back, keeping hands off. Now they're stirred up.

The exception was New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. He and Goldwater wanted the nomination and fought for it. None of the others appeared to lift a finger except Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, who never had a chance.

No wonder Rockefeller looked sardoniously Sunday at some of those others — like Michigan Gov. George Romney and Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton—who now suddenly seem disturbed that Goldwater may win.

They showed no concern before when Rockefeller and Goldwater were battling and might ruin each other. Now they do when Goldwater may clinch the nomination before the Republican convention meets in July.

Even former Vice President Richard M. Nixon sounds more vigorous about being a candidate.

And former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who said he would express no preference and has kept hands off all these months, now has appealed to Scranton to make himself available for the nomination.

He can say his nudge to Scranton isn't expressing preference, since he had previously said he wants convention delegates to have a "fair chance to work their will." But nudging Scranton is being more active than he was before.

Scranton himself said last April the nomination should go to someone who fought for it, "rather than someone who sits on the sidelines and gets it in an easy way."

He said he wasn't even stirred up enough about the issues to be a good candidate although he said he would accept a draft. Last week he said he'd be willing, if drafted by the convention, to run for the vice presidency with Goldwater.

He even said he knew of no "basic differences between him" and the Arizona senator. But Sunday, with Goldwater getting closer to a first-ballot nomination, Scranton suddenly said he would be available for the nomination.

"I'm ready to serve," he said. This time he didn't say he'd have to be drafted. But now, also suddenly, he and Romney say they want clarification of Goldwater's views although he's expressed them for months and written three books.

"I have a feeling," Scranton said, "that the country as a whole is beginning to think he does not" measure up to the principles of the Republican party. This was an ironic statement, coming from Scranton.

The country as a whole would be puzzled to know where Scranton measures up to those principles since his views on anything are widely unknown. It was right here that Rockefeller got in a dig at Scranton and Romney.

He said he'd like to know where Scranton stands and, as for Romney, the New York governor said the Michigan governor had spoken out too late. Romney says he, too, would accept a draft although he intends to run for a second term as governor.

Romney said Sunday that Goldwater has "voiced public views that do not square with the principles for which the Republican party stands." He said he would spare no effort to keep Goldwater from the nomination if his views do not measure up to the needs of the nation and the party.

There's one appropriate question at this point: where were Romney and Scranton all these months while Goldwater was campaigning if they don't know his views?

Nixon seemed to think he was finished after he lost the presidential race in 1960 and the contest for the governorship of California in 1962. He said after this second defeat it was "my last campaign for public office."

In 1963 he said would not under any circumstances accept a Republican presidential draft. But by 1964 he was saying, "I will play whatever role the party decides."

Navy Skipper Recalls Bombardment on D-Day

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —Twenty years ago, Navy Capt. Powell Rhea stood on the bridge of the battleship Nevada and directed the bombardment that helped launch the Allied invasion of Normandy.

Rhea, now 72 and a retired admiral, says he will never get over his big surprise of D-Day, 1944—the fact that so many German shore batteries were dummies.

Local Businesses Aid Independent College Group

Circleville business firms helped to set new state and national records for aid to non-tax-supported colleges in the year ending May 1. It is reported by the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges.

For the year, 1,710 gifts totaling $1,226,895.28 had been received by the foundation from business firms for distribution to 33 member colleges in all parts of the state. This is an increase of $106,894.57 over the previous year.

It is the highest total in business gifts yet achieved by Ohio or any of the 39 similar college groups in other states, according to Dr. Harold K. Schellenger, OFIC executive director.

Gifts received in May, in addition to those reported for earlier months, include one from the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Circleville.

"We were confident that we were going to do the job," said Rhea, a real estate agent in his home town of Fayetteville. "But we expected a certain amount of damage and casualties because of the concentration of shore batteries we had seen in aerial photographs."

"Then they shot at us a little, but their accuracy was poor. And we realized that a lot of those guns were dummies. When our shore parties got there, they confirmed it."

"But we would have wiped them out even if they had those big guns. We knew we could take it."

The Nevada, one of two battleships that stood four miles off Utah Beach, was never touched by German fire.

Aside from his ship, Rhea's biggest personal concern that day was for his brother-in-law, Gen. H. W. Blakeley, artillery officer of the Army's 4th Division.

Blakeley's division was one of the first ashore. It told Rhea where to fire to wipe out German emplacements.

In the H-hour bombardment that preceded the landing, Rhea said, "I had a lot of concern for Blakeley and his men. They were sitting out there in those boats and we were firing right over their heads to knock out batteries and the sea wall. I would sure rather have been on my bridge than out there in his boat."

Another problem was noise from the guns on the open bridge. "I had ear protection, but I was deaf for days afterward," he said.

Rhea, a captain on D-Day, commanded the Boston Navy Yard after the war and was promoted to admiral. On retirement he returned to Fayetteville and was mayor for five years.

Pamela Cupp, James Lint
Are United in Marriage

MRS. JAMES A. LINT

Miss Pamela Sue Cupp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk L. Cupp, 580 Ridgewood Drive, became the bride of Mr. James Alexander Lint, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Lint, Route 2, Uhrichsville, 7:30 p. m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church.

The Rev. Paul I. Wachs performed the double ring ceremony. Arrangements of white gladioli, white mums, baskets of huckleberry and seven branch candelabra decorated the altar. The pews were outlined with white satin bows.

Mrs. Lloyd Fennig, aunt of the bride, was vocalist. Mr. William Russell was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza designed with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Swiss appliques and seed pearls enhanced the bodice and the front of the controlled skirt which flowed into a chapel train.

A crown of Guipure lace scattered with sequins held her veil of imported English illusion and she carried a white satin covered Bible topped with a white orchid surrounded with stephanotis and white streamers trimmed with shattered carnations. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Paul E. Smith was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Lint and Miss Carol Lint, sisters of the bridegroom. They wore identical floor length gowns of peach organza each fashioned with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and a controlled skirt enhanced with a floating Watteau back panel. Blending organza petals held their double pouff veils and they each carried a bouquet of white carnations with pale green maline tufts and a white

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren
Compulsive Talker!

DEAR ABBY: Is there something wrong with me? Whenever I take a trip on a bus or train, I get into very intimate conversations with the person sitting next to me. I don't know why, but before I know it, I am telling this person my life's history. I've told complete strangers things about myself that I'd never think of revealing to anyone I know. If I ever ran into any of these people again I would die of shame, but I can't seem to help myself once I get going. I am not a child, I am a grown woman who has seen 33 summers. Please don't use my name.

TALKS TOO MUCH
DEAR TALKS: Some people who "talk too much" are reacting to a deeply rooted psychological problem. If you're lucky, it won't hurt you (although it may bore others). Meanwhile try counting to ten before you start, then talk about something besides yourself. You MAY not be that interesting.

DEAR ABBY: I live in a very small town where everybody knows everybody else's business. After I graduate from high school it is only natural for people to wonder why I don't look for a job. The trouble is I can't work because I am five months pregnant, and I have to get out of this town as soon as possible. I am being pressured from all sides to go look for a job. I have only enough money for a bus ticket to a place not more than 200 miles from here. Is there a home for unwed mothers that will take me in? Please put your answer in the paper.

MARION
DEAR MARION: Send me your address at once and I will send you the information you need immediately.

DEAR ABBY: My son was asked to be an usher at his friend's wedding. He will have to rent a tuxedo for the wedding. Who is supposed to pay for it?

MRS. D.
DEAR MRS. D.: Either you or your son, depending on his resources. But in any case — not the friend who is being married.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from Wrestler's Wife has prompted me to write. Soon after we were married my husband's brother would snap his fingers on my bare arm, shove me, and otherwise horse around. I didn't want to make an issue of it, and my husband didn't say anything, so I let it go. Sixteen years ago, at a family reunion, this brother rushed across the room, grabbed both my feet and pulled me off the davenport. I hit the floor like a melon. My teen-aged children were present and so were his. The laughter ceased when I couldn't get up. When it was ascertained that I had broken the end of my spine, my brother-in-law felt terrible. Since then I have spent weeks in the hospital, months having therapy and years in a heavy body brace. I might have been spared all this if either my husband or I had made it clear from the start that I did not want to be touched.

Ted Williams' Sub Now Star For Chisox

Stephens Gets Pinch Single To Defeat Detroit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gene Stephens, who made a living in the '50s as Ted Wil- liams' caddy in the Boston Red Sox outfield, earns his major league paycheck these days with a set of clubs.

Stephens' pinch single in the eighth inning drove in the win- ning run Sunday as Chicago nipped Detroit 2-1 and com- pleted a doubleheader sweep.

There was a time when all Stephens needed to earn his keep in the big time was a ready glove. That was in the twilight of Williams' fabulous American League career. The Splendid Splinter would start in left field, do his damage at the plate, and then let Stephens han- dle the fielding for the last few innings.

But when Williams retired in 1960, Stephens had to come up with something more than a five-fingered piece of leather to keep his job. It took him three years and a trip to the minors but he appears to have done it.

Stephens drifted to Baltimore and Kansas City and then to In- dianapolis in 1963 when, all of a sudden, he discovered his bat. A .304 average with 17 homers earned him a look with the White Sox at the tailend of last season and he impressed with seven for 18 and a .389 average.

Chicago Manager Al Lopez re- membered Stephens' bat in the eighth inning of Sunday's sec- ond game against Detroit. The White Sox had taken the opener 8-3 but were trailing 1-0 against Hank Aguirre in the nightcap.

Floyd Robinson led off the eighth and reached on Jake Wood's error. A balk and a sac- rifice moved Robinson to third and he scored on Ron Hansen's single. Don Buford's single put the winning run in scoring pos- ition and Lopez called for Stephens.

The veteran outfielder singled to left, delivering Hansen with the winning run and completing the sweep for the Chisox.

The double victory coupled with Minnesota's 5-2 victory over Baltimore put the White Sox in first place, a half-game in front of the Orioles. Else- where in the AL, New York whacked Los Angeles 9-3, Bos- ton and Kansas City split with the Red Sox winning the first 9-5 and the A's taking the sec- ond 8-6, and Cleveland split a pair with Washington, winning the first 3-2 in 15 innings and losing the nightcap 6-3.

In the National League, San Francisco nipped Philadelphia 4-3 in 10 innings, Cincinnati smacked St. Louis 11-6, Chicago whipped Milwaukee 5-2, Houston split a pair with Pittsburgh win- ning 6-3 and losing 6-1, and Los Angeles dropped New York 6-1 before rain ended their second game, a 1-1 tie after five in- nings.

37 Golfers Play Newly Opened Links

Don Collins, owner of Upper Lansdowne Golf Links, re- ported that 37 golfers braved threatening weather yesterday to play the newly opened course.

Ron Leatherwood, a Teays Valley High School junior, card- ed a 37 on the course, the low- est score yet posted. Jerry Bender of Circleville birdied the long par five first hole.

Collins announced today that free golf clinics for lad- ies, men and youngsters from seven to 17 will be scheduled either by the later part of this month or the first of July.

He noted that persons in- terested in the clinics may con- tact him.

The instruction will be pro- vided by Rick Spires, with the assistance of Felix Dore' and Gale Leatherwood.

Jacks Point To First Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Jacksonville can keep up its present pace, the Suns are going to be hard to keep out of first place in the International League pennant race.

The Suns, who have won eight of their last 11 starts to move to within one-half game of the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs, kept moving right along Sunday, beating Columbus in a doubleheader 7-2 and 5-1.

The other six teams all split doubleheaders. Buffalo defeated Rochester 5-4 in 13 innings in

Chance Wins Steady Job With Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rookie Bob Chance, a big, strong boy who's been swinging a mighty hot bat lately, has won him- self a regular spot in the Cleve- land Indians' lineup.

"He'll be at first base against left-handed pitchers and in the outfield against right handers," Tribe manager George Strick- land announced Sunday. Cleve- land won the opener 3-2 in 15 innings but dropped the night- cap to Washington 6-3.

"We need Chance's bat in the lineup, especially right now," Strickland continued. "He's not an accomplished outfielder yet, but he's got a lot of determina- tion and he's improving every day."

Chance rapped two home runs and two singles against the Senators, raising his average to .438. He has 21 hits in 48 at- bats, including five homers.

"I feel pretty much at home either place," said the 6-foot-3 slugger who won the Eastern League batting title last season.

Chance, who will be 24 next month, showed up fat and happy at spring training. Indians' coaches ran him and ran him and put him on a special diet. Down to 215 pounds from 238, he looks fit now and is built like a marble statue.

He still looks awkward when playing the outfield but he seems right at home at the plate.

Lema Pockets Thunderbird Cash

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—"I saw my wife standing there in the rain on the 18th, and I said, 'Honey, I sure made this thing interest- ing, didn't I?'"

You might say that.

There was Tony Lema, going down in flames in the final round of the $100,000 Thunderbird Golf Tournament Sunday. First he held a seven-stroke lead over Mike Souchak with 13 holes to play, and suddenly he was one stroke behind with four to go.

It was building up to be the biggest collapse since the stock market in 1929.

Lema redeemed his pledge to treat the press to champagne when he rapped in a pressure eight-foot putt on the 18th hole for his second straight birdie, and the $20,000 top prize.

their opener, but dropped the second game 9-7. Syracuse de- feated Toronto 7-2 in the first, and lost the second 3-2. Rich- mond swept past Atlanta 8-1, and then was shut out 6-0.

Quadrangle Trims Dancer

Pair Could Meet Again in August

NEW YORK (AP)—Quadrangle, the bubble burster, and his three closest pursuers in last Saturday's $154,600 Belmont Stakes, parted company today with no idea when they'll meet again. It could be in the 1 1/4 miles of the $75,000-added Travers at Saratoga Aug. 22.

Quadrangle, who emphatical- ly halted Northern Dancer's bid for the Triple Crown, won the 1 1/4-mile race by two lengths in 2:28 2/5 to earn $110,850 and pay $15.10 for $2.

Roman Brother was second, four lengths in front of Northern Dancer as the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner faltered for the lead one-quarter-mile from the finish. Hill Rise, sec- ond choice to the heavily backed Dancer, trailed by another one-half length in fourth place.

Elliott Burch, personable trainer of Paul Mellon's Quad- rangle, hasn't decided on future plans for the strapping son of Cohoes-Tap Day. But he is lean- ing strongly towards giving his hard-hitting ace another crack at older horses in the $100,000-added Suburban Handicap over 1 1/4 miles at Aqueduct July 4.

Roman Brother, who was the smallest horse in the race, like- ly will head for Chicago for three $100,000-added races—the Chicagoan June 27, the Classic Aug. 8 and the American Derby Aug. 29.

Horatio Luro, trainer of Northern Dancer, left for Cana- da Sunday and stable connec- tions said the horse would be shown off before the home folks in the 1 1/4 miles of the $50,000-added Queens Plate at Wood- bine.

E. P. Taylor, owner of the Dancer, is head of the Wood- bine track. Northern Dancer then will be given a rest before going after the Travers.

Bill Finnegan, trainer of Hill Rise, left today for California but the Santa Anita Derby win- ner remained in New York in charge of Bill Winfrey. The West Coast colt will be given a long rest before resuming train- ing for the Travers.

Europe's Cagers Improve—Lucas

CINCINNATI (AP) — Euro- pean basketball players are get- ting better, but in Jerry Lucas' opinion they are still no match for American professionals.

The former Ohio State Uni- versity 'All - America returned last weekend from a 5 1/2 week tour of Europe and North Africa with a team of American pro- fessionals. The tour was spon- sored by the U. S. State De- partment and the Boston Cel- tics' Red Auerbach served as coach.

"We ran into some pretty darned good players," the Cin- cinnati Royals' star rookie said. "Their offense and shooting ability has improved. They're still weak on defense, but they seem to shoot much more like Americans than in the past. I don't think I saw a two-handed set shot on the whole trip. They are shooting mostly jumpers and they shoot on the move a great deal more than in the past."

3 Close Scrapes Fail To Defeat Foyt in Race

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A. J. Foyt drove away from three close scrapes, including a fiery crash that left Jim Hurtubise critically burned, to win Sun- day's 100-mile big car test but said, "If all auto races are go- ing to be as hairy as this one, I might consider quitting."

Foyt, the winner of the 500- mile Memorial Day race at In- dianapolis, now has won all four events in the new U.S. Auto Club season. He was first in earlier 100-milers at Trenton, N.J., and Phoenix, Ariz.

In Sunday's race, watched by a record crowd of 36,285 at the Wisconsin State Fairgrounds, Foyt finished a 1 1/2 miles ahead of Len Sutton of Portland, Ore. Foyt, from Houston, Tex., drove an Offenhauser powered car with the engine mounted in front.

All of the first 10 cars were powered by Offenhausers and all had the engines in front ex- cept for the rear-mounts driven by Sutton and ninth-place Jim McElreath of Arlington, Tex. All 22 starters used an alcohol fuel, spurning the gasoline that figured in the fiery crash that killed two drivers in the Mem- orial Day race at Indianapolis.

Foyt, whose purse was $9,830, averaged 100.365 miles per hour on the one-mile paved track. His time was 59 minutes, 47.581 seconds for the 100 miles, 28 of them under the caution flag.

Speaking over the public ad- dress system after the race, Foyt said, "Man I had three close calls."

One was a 51-st lap tangle that sent Hurtubise's car into the air to crash in flames against a concrete retaining wall.

Rodger Ward of Indianapolis, who had been leading in a rear-mounted, Ford engine car, appeared to slide coming out of a turn and was forced to quit the race by clutch trouble. Foyt close behind braked but there was no place for the third-place Hurtubise to go.

The left front wheel of Hurl- tuse's car climbed over the right rear wheel of Foyt's rac- er. The fire under Hurtubise's car was quickly extinguished and was pulled out.

Hurtubise suffered first a d second degree burns over 40 per cent of his body, including his hands, arms, legs and back. A spokesman for West Allis Mem- orial Hospital said he was in "critical condition, but doing fine."

The hospital said he would be flown today to the burn center at the U.S. Army Brooke Med- ical Center at San Antonio.

A spectator hit by a piece of debris was cut on the head but in satisfactory condition at a hospital.

Third place went to Bud Tin- gelstad of Dayton, Ohio, and Troy Ruttman of Dearborn, Mich., was fourth. Only nine cars finished.

The Philadelphia Phillies are carrying two first-year players — pitcher Rick Wise and out- fielder John Briggs.

Final Umpire Session To Feature Films

The final session of the Ki- wanis sponsored umpire train- ing school will be conducted 8:15 p. m. tomorrow in the 4-H Grange Building at the Picka- way County Fairgrounds.

Steve Brudzinski, who is di- recting the school, announced today that two 20-minute film strips will be shown.

Produced by the film division of the American and National Leagues, the movies will de- scribe umpiring and batting.

Included in the list of stars who will appear in the movies are Ted Williams, Stan Musial, Willie Mays and Ernie Banks.

BRUDZINSKI emphasized the session is open to the public. He urged youths, their parents, as well as umpires and manag- ers of the Circleville Youth Baseball Program to attend.

The film showing will be fol- lowed by a short question and answer period.

Fred Goeglein has been head- ing the program for the Kiwanis Club.

Six of the 12 horses in this year's Kentucky Derby came up to the race with earnings of more than $100,000.

Lady Bird Finds White House Job To Be Exciting Experience

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson sees life in the White House as a short-term lease on an exciting experience. And she says "one would have to be born yesterday" not to have something in his life open to criticism.

In a wide-ranging interview—the first of this kind she has given in the White House—Mrs. Johnson said the walls there close around the first family and they feel there are "only four of us" who really can share and understand it.

She told how she and daughters Lynda, 20, and Luci, 16, share the criticism and the decision-making burdens of the presidency and try to help the man of the house.

And, she said, she thinks the President is "in very splendid health and being real sensible within the limits of the demands of his office."

Mrs. Johnson notes that "being the wife of the President does qualify as a job."

"You would regard it as a tool which can be used, which I want to learn how to use wisely and energetically," she said. She finds the White House a place where you touch base with "a parade of interesting minds" and "uncertainty is more likely than order" in the daily schedule.

When it comes to criticisms—and she's had her share—Mrs. Johnson said you have to explore your own conscience: "If I don't think there was anything wrong in it, I'm not going to worry about it."

"Foolishness" is the way she characterized complaints about Johnson pulling the ears of his pet beagle dogs and turning off lights at the White House.

"If you don't turn out the lights that aren't necessary, that's plain neglectful," she commented.

And, she termed Republican allegations about "deplorable poverty" among families on her Alabama farm land something of "a publicity gimmick" that "I just don't want to comment about."

Mrs. Johnson reiterated that she had left these farm families remain on her land although it would have been financially more prudent to turn from cotton farming to timber.

"It would make much more sense to put the land into the trees as far as income goes," she said, "but I do not want to tell people that they have to leave."

Asked if she hadn't anticipated that someone might raise this issue when the President embarked on a nationwide war on poverty, Mrs. Johnson quickly replied:

"No. I don't think anyone can search his background to find out everything that might be attacked. One would have to be born yesterday with nothing to attack."

Marking her first six months in the White House, Mrs. Johnson granted a two-hour interview to two news service reporters who have been covering her activities.

With typical Southern hospitality she provided a luncheon setting in the pretty blue and white dressing room of the famed "Queen's Bedroom" in the White House family quarters.

While two waiters served a light salad luncheon, she answered queries ranging from what she thinks of her husband's dancing to evaluating her own business acumen.

"I think he's a real good dancer," she said of Johnson. With a touch of humor, she added, "Lynda says his repertory is a little limited."

When the Johnsons came to the White House, Mrs. Johnson placed in trusteeship the million-dollar radio-television enterprise she launched at station KTBC in Austin, Tex. Much has been written about this venture and Mrs. Johnson was asked to give some insight into her business operations and whether she considers herself "a great businesswoman."

"I only say I've got good judgment about people," Mrs. Johnson replied. She said she had picked good people to run her station and "I left the decisions to them."

When it comes to White House business decisions, Mrs. Johnson indicated she is called on by her husband for advice and consultation. "I wouldn't say he comes to me for an okay," she said with a smile. "We talk about it and I infiltrate."

In exploring and getting reactions and judgments on national and international decisions, Johnson turns to his wife, too. "Alas poor man," she said, "after much more learned people than I have advised him, then he ultimately has to come up with the answer."

In her own job, Mrs. Johnson said she decides what public appearances, take on primarily on the basis of what "I have an earnest natural interest in."

"It's nutty to go some place you don't have an involvement in," she added smiling.

Mrs. Johnson likes best trips like those she made to the space center at Huntsville, Ala., and the anti-poverty projects she visited in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Kentucky.

Her reasons for going: 1—"I can serve some use to my husband in telling him what I saw, my feeling about it in learning from people rather than statistics."

2—"It can possibly be of some use to draw back the curtain to the awoken and alert people to reasons why Lyndon has got this poverty project."

And, with a laugh, she said the third reason was: "It's an education for me."

Mrs. Johnson described the family routine and praised her daughters for the way they are handling their life in the spotlight.

Lynda, she said "did dandy" in accompanying the President on a recent six-state poverty tour.

"She has a naturally inquiring mind and also wanted to give her daddy the feeling he had another soldier... somebody in the family who cared."

And, she was equally approving of Luci's performance. "She has an almost painful sense of obligation to being our daughter and the role she's supposed to play. She hears she's supposed to be an American model for youth. She takes it seriously."

Asked if she sets any ground rules about White House dating,

Mrs. Johnson said "that has kind of long been understood" by the girls. "I can't say I pry or make demands on exactly when they get in. I believe they have a good understanding," Mrs. Johnson said. "I frequently go in and see them when they get in and curl up on the bed and it's one of the best moments."

Mrs. Johnson said her day starts at 8 a.m. with breakfast, her favorite meal, in bed while she reads the newspapers.

Lunch is usually a catch-as-catch-can meal in the White House, with Johnson preempting the family's upstairs dining room for business lunches to which he often summons his wife for dessert and coffee.

Because she thinks she drinks too much coffee, Mrs. Johnson switches to Sanka "when I'm home and can control it."

It's dinnertime at the White House "when Lyndon's work is done," ranging from 8:30 p.m. "to considerably later."

The girls "get ravenous" and usually have their meal at 6:30 p.m., joining their parents later to talk.

Mrs. Johnson is finding more success with preserving a tradition of trying to keep Sunday a day for the family to be together. Sunday for the Johnsons, she said, is set aside "for resting, reading, family, and exercise and I don't like to break it to go anywhere else if I can help it."

She said she doesn't worry about the problem of privacy in the White House.

"I do worry about the lack of tranquility and serenity." And what she wants most is "a datebook with a day blank," and a chance to lie in the hammock at the ranch and look at the sky.

"That's when you do your best thinking," she said.

Of the 12 horses in this year's Kentucky Derby, five were ridden during their careers by Willie Shoemaker.

Goldwater's Delegate Total Is Near 600

cause of his May 5 preferential primary victory there.

New York's Republican state committee meets Thursday and is expected to name 10 at-large delegates favorable to Rockefeller to go with the 76 district delegates he won in last week's primary. The New York governor also picked up five votes Sunday from the Puerto Rican delegation.

Goldwater is expected to face rough sledding in his attempts to muster support at the Minnesota convention beginning Thursday, the Maryland convention Friday and the Connecticut convention Friday and Saturday. At stake are 46 votes.

But Goldwater is viewed by political leaders in Missouri, Utah, New Mexico, Idaho and Virginia as the likely winner of most of their 58 votes to be decided in conventions Friday and Saturday.

There are other matters to be settled at state conventions this week:

Indiana — Republicans will nominate a Senate candidate from a field of three and a gubernatorial candidate from a field of seven. Two congressmen are in the running—Rep. Donald C. Bruce for the Senate and Rep. William G. Bray for governor. Democrats, meeting Thursday and Friday, are expected to renominate Sen. Vance Hartke for a second term and choose a gubernatorial nominee from among five candidates.

Utah—Republicans will either endorse or nominate candidates for Senate, House and governor. Under a new state law, the top two men at the convention go on the August primary ballot unless one of them gets an endorsement by 80 per cent of the state convention delegates.

There are only two candidates for the Senate—Rep. Sherman P. Lloyd and Ernest L. Wilkinson, former president of Brigham Young University. Neither is expected to get 80 per cent. Five men seek the nod for governor, including former Gov. J. Bracken Lee, State Publicity Director D. James Cannon and former GOP National Committeeman Melchior.

Connecticut — Republicans are expected to nominate former Gov. John Davis Lodge without opposition for the Senate seat held by Thomas J. Dodd. Dodd already has won Democratic nomination for a second term.

Idaho—Republicans and Democrats will nominate or endorse primary candidates for two House seats.

South Carolina — Democrats vote in a primary election Tuesday on six House candidates. Only two of the incumbents — Robert T. Ashmore and W.J.B. Dorn—have primary opposition. But there's a four-way race for the nomination to the seat vacated by Robert W. Hemphill, who quit to become a federal judge.

150 Present For Jackson Alumni Fete

There were approximately 150 members and guests present for the 1964 Jackson Twp. Alumni Banquet.

Following the invocation by Mrs. Margaret Fischer Evans the Jackson Muhlenberg PTS served a steak dinner. Principal Gordon Massie introduced the class of 1964 that was welcomed into the association by Mrs. Marilyn Duleson Weiland. Her sister, Melanie Duleson, gave the response.

Gladden Troutman was master of ceremonies. Roll calls were conducted for all classes from 1914 to 1963. Four of the 8 members of the 1939 graduating class who were celebrating their silver anniversary were present.

All members of the class of 1914 who were celebrating their 50th anniversary, Mrs. Ruth Furness Alspaugh, Mrs. Beatrice Kirkpatrick Bach and Mrs. Virginia Cardiff Metzger, were guests of the alumni. Mrs. Metzger came the greatest distance to attend, traveling here from Nevada.

It was voted to continue to have banquets and to include as new members those West-fall High School graduates who graduated from Jackson eighth grade prior to consolidation. It was also decided to make Mrs. Mary Hamilton an honorary member of the Alumni Assn.

Mrs. Annabelle Barch Mowery, Clarence R. Thomas, and Mrs. Opal Russell Overly were appointed to the nominating committee.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Evans gave the Benediction. The remainder of the evening was spent singing, playing games and visiting in the auditorium.

News of World in Brief

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes, who brought the annual governors' conference to Cleveland, said today a group is working to bring the 1968 Republican National Convention here.

The Republican governor said he would be glad to work with any Democrats on the project. Rhodes said he has not been approached for the vice presidential spot with the GOP nominee to be selected next month at the San Francisco convention.

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Glen E. Lamp of Alliance, charged with first-degree murder in the death of pharmacist Louis Nagy pleaded innocent today in Municipal Court.

Lamp, a 24-year-old unemployed father of two, is accused of shooting Nagy, 46, three times with a .32-caliber pistol on the night of April 25. Nagy was at his drug store in the fashionable Hillcrest area on the city's northwest side.

Lamp, arrested early Saturday, was quoted by police as saying he went to rob the store and the shooting followed an argument between him and Nagy.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its denial of a jury trial to former Mississippi Gov. Ross R. Barnett and his successor, Paul B. Johnson, on criminal contempt charges filed against them in the James H. Meredith case.

Barnett and Johnson were charged with contempt on the ground they refused to obey orders of the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans not to interfere with admission of Meredith, a Negro, to the University of Mississippi in 1962.

Meredith entered the university amid rioting that caused President Kennedy to send in federal troops. Meredith since was graduated.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jazz pianist Meade (Lux) Lewis wound up his engagement in a suburban night club Sunday, drove onto the highway and was killed seconds later in an automobile collision.

Jimmy Dobbins, 19, Minneapolis, a passenger in the second car, was injured fatally.

Lewis, 58, of Los Angeles, was considered one of the top boogie-woogie pianists. Critics credited the bulky, jovial musician with advancing the form from a simple folk art in the 1920s into a highly expressive and complex music.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson tries today to persuade labor leaders to move faster in opening up union membership and job opportunities for Negroes and other minority groups.

More than 100 top labor spokesmen, including AFL-CIO President George Meany, are expected to attend the conference, called by Johnson to discuss ways to put into effect union pledges against discrimination.

Although the AFL-CIO has repeatedly urged its members to drop all discriminatory bars, the administration reportedly is disappointed at the failure of some unions to practice at the local level what they preach.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Singer Kate Smith was severely cut when she walked through a plate glass door Sunday.

Dr. Walter R. Newbern, said 25 stitches were required to close the wounds. The accident occurred at a home where Miss Smith, 55, has been in seclusion since the recent death of Ted Collins, her longtime manager and friend.

Miss Smith remained in a West Palm Beach hospital today.

NEW YORK (AP) — Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu, the first lady of South Viet Nam before her brother-in-law, Ngo Dinh Diem, was overthrown in a bloody coup, is coming back to the United States.

The Conservative party club of Flushing, Queens, announced Sunday that Mrs. Nhu, who now lives in Paris, will address a "truth rally" July 7. The club said she would "expose the truth of the Viet Nam affair."

HONG KONG (AP) — Singer Judy Garland was to have boarded a ship for Rome Sunday night but she changed her mind. The 41-year-old singer's traveling companion, Mark Herron, said today she decided to fly, and will take a plane Friday.

Herron said Miss Garland

where he accepted an honorary degree from Pennsylvania Military College, that he would be glad to talk to Scranton and other leaders about the issues.

"I think I can safely say that I can run on a platform that would contain the civil rights bill that passes the Congress," said Goldwater. "I can assure you it won't be the one that is before us now."

He added that he thinks less than 1 per cent of the Republicans favor the public accommodations section of the bill.

Romney told a news conference Goldwater's views do not "square with the principles for which the Republican party stands on the basis of its past record and heritage."

If Goldwater doesn't clarify them to his satisfaction, the Michigan governor said, "I will do everything in my power to keep him from becoming the party's presidential candidate."

Goldwater has "no popular support in Michigan," said Romney.

Goldwater told a news conference in Chester he expects to be the nominee, but that his critics conceivably could unite and deny him the nomination.

"I won't be confident of it until they've counted the roll call," he said.

Tabulations indicated that Goldwater will push close to 600 publicly committed delegates this week.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., after meeting with Republican governors to discuss general election campaign plans, predicted Goldwater would fall 80 to 100 votes shy on the first convention ballot of the 655 votes needed for nomination.

Goldwater reiterated that if anybody challenges him seriously for the nomination, he expects it to be former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Nixon was invited, along with Goldwater, to be a conference guest for Eisenhower's address and would attend any leadership meeting.

Rockefeller told a news conference, "Anything can happen between now and the convention but it is very unlikely" that any candidate could defeat Goldwater.

"Until I see a better candidate who has some solid support I shall continue to be a candidate," he said.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho said it was the consensus of the GOP governors at an informal conference that Goldwater will be the party nominee.

Democrats generally stood on the sidelines but Gov. Otto Kerner predicted that President Johnson will carry Illinois no matter who the Republicans nominate.

Area Restaurant Denied Request For Liquor Permit

An application for a permit to sell 3.2 per cent beer for on-premises consumption and carry out has been denied Helen Thompson, 127 Pinckney St., by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

The permit was sought for the Thompson Restaurant located on Route 23 in Pickaway Twp. Objections to the issuance of the permit were raised by a nearby church, residents of the surrounding community and governmental agencies, according to the liquor department.

It noted the objections were well founded, in stating reasons for the rejection.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here is the official U. S. Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Considerable sunshine was indicated for today after an early morning fog that reduced visibilities to near zero. Temperatures were expected to climb above the 90-degree mark over a large part of the state while the area along Lake Erie was to be cool with afternoon temperatures near 70.

The warmest in the state Sunday was 83 at Cincinnati. Temperatures this morning were quite uniform, ranging from 57 at Youngstown to 65 at Cincinnati.

The weather pattern was one favorable for a continuation of warm and humid weather during the week. At the same time, local showers may be possible on almost any day during the week.

The Sunday afternoon showers produced 1.2 inches of rainfall at Prospect in Marion County. Prospect also had some small hail during the downpour. Cleveland measured .87 of an inch, Columbus .53 and Cincinnati had less than .1.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECASTS: OHIO—Temperatures are expected to average 5-9 degrees above normal. Representative normals are Cincinnati 83-62, Columbus 82-58 and Cleveland 77-55. Warm Tuesday and Wednesday, cooler Thursday and warmer remainder of week. Scattered showers Tuesday and part of week averaging one-half to locally one inch.

Auto-Gyro Demonstration Is on Flying Assn. Agenda

Want to know how to build your own helicopter with a do-it-yourself kit?

Members of Circleville Flying Association will get the inside information at their monthly meeting here Wednesday evening.

Scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the main hangar at Thomas Field, west of the city, the meeting will feature a demonstration of the Bensen Auto-Gyro, a one-man verticle lift aircraft.

This month's meeting of the association also will offer another innovation — a look at Circleville from a half-mile up — at night.

Mrs. Leon Ostrander of Thomas Field, who is in charge of arrangements, said landing lights would be installed for the Wednesday event and that local pilots, who have perfected night flying techniques, will offer the nocturnal flights to those interested in seeing the old roundtown by the light of the moon.

MRS. OSTRANDER stressed that wives of male members of the association are being extended a special invitation to attend Wednesday's meeting. She said a bonfire will be lighted to accommodate a weiner and marshmallow roast.

Later, a jukebox dance will be staged in the hangar.

During the group's business session, it will hear a report from a committee looking into the problems of sponsoring a fly-in here.
